LAST TIME I VISITED -
REASON I WAS ANXIOUS

Back door. They did NOTHING else. Although the house that started the same day is framed and roofed. Irritation. Sigh

Today's picture.

But still have a ways to go.

Corner of our foundation and two houses next door.

House on the left started the same day as ours.

I have no real emotion with this today, just wanted you to see.

QUICKLY FORCED MYSELF TO APATHY TO AVOID THE STRESS AND NOT CAUSE MY PARENTS MORE STRESS (I HAVE TO BE OUT OF MY APARTMENT THE FIRST PART OF JANUARY)

I've emailed Ken will call him on Monday if we don't hear back.

Okay. Thanks. Like I said, I think they are working on it. The middle looks better, but the edges still look terrible. Fascinated to know how we were the only house of the 20ish they are building that got this bad cement.

Wendy Wakefield posted 2 new photos. We... was hoping to see them today... the house is... the middle looks better, but the edges still look terrible. Fascinated to know how we were the only house of the 20ish they are building that got this bad cement.

Glad you are home safe and sound. Any progress on the house?
I haven't been over there yet. I will go a bit later.

Yay!

Dad
A house!

Doors are 38 in.

Yay indeed. Were they still there working?

Nope. They are usually done by five cuz they start early when it is cooler.

Makes sense. Hope they keep it up

The house looks lovely...guess we won't have to pitch a tent after all...maybe.

One can hope.
